BONININES

The Bonine family name is French in origin and is believed to have been written de Bonine. The de before a family name signified a family of importance. Some authorities believe the name was of Roman origin. A gentleman in the Office of Turismo, Pau, France, after looking for Bonines in a large book of family names of the Pau area and finding none, suggested that the name might be Italian.

The research by Professor C. A. Bonine has recorded the following facts about the early family and family name:

"The Bonines were French Huguenots. Jacquemine de Bonine was named as godmother to a baby christened in the French Huguenot church at Norwich, England, in 1597. This family evidently escaped from France during the earlier persecution, for 100 years later we find in the patent (naturalization) rolls, John Bonine applying for citizenship 7/8/1696. He left France because of the revocation of the Edict of Nantes (religious liberty act) in 1685. His son, Peter Abbadie de Bonine was born in Millac, Bearn, an ancient Province of France which includes Pau. (This part of France was an important Roman Colony about the third and fourth centuries A.D. so the name Bonine appears to be of Roman origin. There are Bonines in Italy.) This Peter was naturalized in 1713, on reaching his majority, supposedly. There is a record of a William and John Bonine who went to England in 1675, and were naturalized in 1688. Our relationship to these people is not clear, but it is evident that Bonine is a French Huguenot name."

YOUR NAME -- BONINE

Your name, Bonine, has been variously pronounced as Bow-nine, Ba-nine', or Bow-nene'. Having sat in many classrooms in public schools and universities and answered to various pronounciations of Bonine, I concluded early that the name was not well known. In southern Michigan where I grew up, I knew a half dozen or more families in that area bearing the name, all using the pronounciation, Bo-nine'.

Because I became interested in family history too late in my life to benefit from the facts about the Michigan Bonines from my grandparents, I set out to research the family's history. It was then that I became proud to belong to this family and to try harder to be a credit to the name. I have learned that the ancestors in the family line were religious, thrifty, and hardworking people, very often willing to face grave hardships to give a new and better life for their families. Their migrations to, in, and across America demonstrated these characteristics. They helped to make America. In the records of their lives can be found much of the history, expansion, and settlement of midwestern United States.

In searching for these facts I have traveled, met, and corresponded with wonderful Bonine descendents. Several had already done research and generously shared it with me. Through them I have been able to compile much about the different branches that migrated apart as they left the family settlement in Richmond, Indiana. Also I have met some who remained in Tennessee. These Tennessee families have not contributed the necessary information to permit me to connect them to the families whose history is more complete. I am fairly sure they are related because they live near the area in Tennessee that our known ancestors traversed. Some seem to bear similar physical characteristics.

One of them said that their family was believed to have come from Alsace Loraine, in eastern France.

I met in Tennessee one Bonine who exhibited truer French physical characteristics than most of the others I have met. He claimed parents in Louisiana who he believed had migrated from Canada. I have wondered if they might have been Huguenots who fled directly from France to Canada and then with or following the Acadians were displaced to Louisiana. Unlike our ancestors, who joined English families migrating, they may have married other French emigrants and retained truer French facial features and stature.

Though much that I will compile here was research by others, I will say that I have traveled many miles to visit areas from which and through which our ancestors lived and traveled. Some of these include Pau in France, England, Shelly's Island on the Susquehanna River in York County in Pennsylvania, Eastern Tennessee's New Hope Meeting Place and Marysville, Richmond in Indiana, and of course Penn Township in Cass County, Michigan, the place of my own birth and residence in my youth. I also have visited with some descendents of those who settled in Iowa.

The gathering and final production of this family history could not have been possible without the helpful interest and support of my wife, Neva (Waltz) Bonine. She not only traveled with me and kept notes, but has assisted in the completion of this unpretentious document. My objective has been to put together the known facts and share them as economically as possible with all Bonine families for future generations. There are many missing facts and perhaps some not quite accurate statements, but all are printed here as given to me. I have provided space so that additional data and narration can be added by any branch caring to update and complete the records for their branch. I hope they will continue recording through the generations ahead. It is hoped that this family history will be meaningful, and that it will help all bearing the name BONINE name to be proud to write and speak it, and always to act to keep it honest and good.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION

I am greatly indebted to the following persons who have contributed to the detailed family histories:

THE NUMBERING SYSTEM AND ABBREVIATIONS

Every descendant of Elias Bonine has a number in the following compilation. These numbers are assigned the first time the name of a child appears and shows to the left of the name. The same numbered name appears again in the next generation if that person survived to adulthood. (There are a few exceptions to this second showing where information was lacking.)

After the names of each descendant, there appears in parenthesis the first names of their ancestors with the number of their generation just above and after the name.

The abbreviations are easy to recognize: b. means born, d. means died, m. means married, res. means residents or address, occ. means occupation or work.

FIRST AMERICAN GENERATION

*Born N

1. Elias Bonine married and had three children:
 2. Elias Jr.
 3. James
 4. Mary m. Wm. Owen

Elias Bonine is the original emigrant. He bought a farm from Elias Naudain who had it from Jonas Wright one year before, a farm called Springarden of 200 acres situated on Drawers Creek, New Castle Co., Delaware. Three years later he died leaving a will written or recorded on October 5, 1726, saying in part "I do bequeath and devise to my beloved son, James, 169 acres of that land, etc." Soon thereafter he died. This is mentioned in the acknowledgment of the settling of James Bonine's estate May 19, 1784, in the Register of Deeds office, Wilmington, Delaware. The whole will is not given. He evidently left his remaining acres to someone. An Elias Bonine bought some land on the west side of the Delaware River and the northwest side of Appoquinamiak Creek in 1735 and 1737. It is assumed that this was the son Elias who died without heirs. There is also mention of a daughter Mary who married a William Owen. The first Elias seems to have died a fairly young man for his children did not marry or leave home until ten years after his death.

Elias Bonine bought his land in 1723 from one of the first elders of the Old Drawers Presbyterian Church. It was organized in 1717 by the Synod of Philadelphia just after the Synod itself was formed. It is probable that Elias was buried there, as that is the oldest and nearest Presbyterian Church to his farm. It is possible that the Bonines were connected to the "Labbadist" sect of Huguenots.

Daniel Bonine was born in Delaware near Drawer's Creek, New Castle Co. As a little boy he moved with his parents to Newberry Twp., York Co., Penn. in 1743. At the time of the French and Indian Wars in 1748 he was a small boy and lived in some exciting times there. In 1755 after Braddock's defeat at Fort Dusquense the frontier was ravished by Indians and many settlers were ferried across the Susquehanna River at Wright's Ferry (Columbia), about ten miles below Shelly's Island, to escape the fury. It is wondered if the Bonines left too, or stuck it out in their island home. Surely Daniel at 19 was in the thick of it.

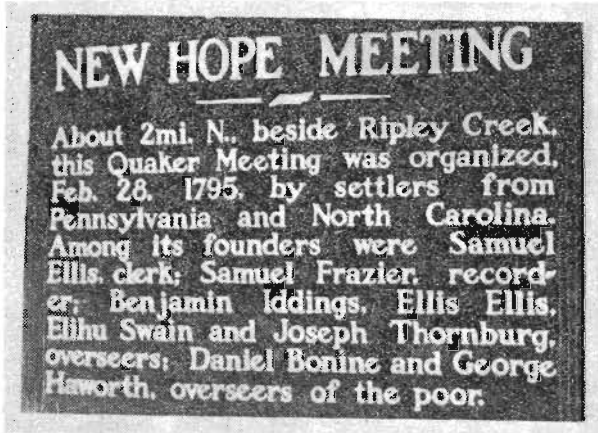

Daniel was not a Quaker until after he married Sarah Miller. She was "complained of" in Meeting for marrying out of Meeting and evidently persuaded her husband to join for her sake. However this Meeting must not have been very strict, or she would have been "ruled out of Meeting" immediately. Daniel joined the Friends in May 7, 1774 shortly after the birth of their first child. Sarah died in the next year or two, and Daniel married Mary Copeland of Newberry Meeting. They lived on Shelly's Island which is sometimes listed as Derry Twp., Lancaster Co. and sometimes as Newberry Twp., York Co. Probably the boundaries were not fixed as to the land out in the river. The island is nearer to Lancaster Co. The old Indian treaty boundary ran to the edge of the river. The Bonines felt themselves a part of the Conewago (Newberry) community because of the French settlement there, even if it was farther away.

According to the Pennsylvania Archives, Daniel Bonine served in the Revolutionary War as a private, 6th class, under Capt. Robert McKeen, 7th Battalion, Lancaster Co., Pa., commanded by Col. Alexander Lowry of Derry. It seems very odd that he could be in the army and yet be a Quaker in good standing. This Meeting, located as it was in the midst of Indian warfare and far from Philadelphia, was probably not very strict in its discipline. It is much easier to preach pacifism in a safe place. However, Daniel Bonine was a faithful Friend in every other way.

According to the Sharpless Geneology, Daniel Bonine, Jesse Willis, and Thomas Jennings of Newberry Meeting, proposing to move to a New State, requested the advice of their friends, and a committee was appointed 5-11-1793 to confer with them. A certificate was granted them 8-9-1794 for Daniel Bonine and family directed to the Westfield Monthly Meeting, North Carolina (which had charge of beyond the mountains). Leaving behind his two brothers and sister and probably his oldest children, some of whom were married, Daniel Bonine at the age of 58 set out for beyond the mountains. Always a pioneer, perhaps things were too civilized in the Susquehanna valley now for the restless blood of Daniel. He may have been truly motivated by the strong desire to serve his chosen Faith in a new land, like his father and grandfather before him. They settled in Blount Co. Tenn. in Friendville, now Marysville. General Wayne had subdued the Indians in Ohio that year and the borders were just opening up. This country was extremely wild and there were only a handful of white settlers there. When slavery became established there, Daniel again gathered his family around him, like an old patriarch, and moved on where freedom was not marred by the curse which the Quakers so strongly opposed. They settled in Wayne Co. Indiana, again in a primitive pioneer community, for this part of the country was just opening up. Daniel was 77, yet he helped his sons build Orange Meeting House in what was to be Richmond, Indiana. He died there four years after his last move, a long, long way from Delaware, and even farther from his French people.

THE SOCIETY OF FRIENDS (QUAKERS)

The society of Friends was formed in about 1652 by George Fox in England. Dissent in the Established Church led some people to agree that they should eliminate some of the pomp and show. Inward faith to God and outward faith to man was to be preserved. They were their brothers' keepers. They recommended temperance, a minimum of entertainment, fairness and honesty in all commercial dealings, peace, brotherly love, and fear of the Lord. They punished strictly for breaking these doctrines.

Those who made fun of the fact that Friends would not take part in fighting said that they "quaked" with fear which led to the nickname "Quakers". At first this name was not liked but later they adopted it to some extent as they became generally known by the name.

The Friends adopted plain dress, usually grey or black at first. They had rigid rules that expelled members from the group. To move and to get married had to be approved by the Monthly Meeting. Strict conduct rules led to splits in memberships. Other churches practicing evangelism of forgiveness of sins diminished the Friends memberships.

The Bonine Friends started with the marriage of Daniel to Sarah Miller because she was a Quaker. The moving to different Friends Meetings groups is the history of the migrations of the family. The earliest records are with the Hopewell Monthly Meeting near Winchester, Pa., also at Warrington Meeting at Lancaster and at Newberry Meeting, Pa, next a transfer to Westfield Meeting, North Carolina because it controlled the area west of the mountains. New Hope Meeting was then set up near Friendville and Marysville, Tenn. From there to Orange and Whitewater Meetings in Indiana at Richmond. In Michigan they established first the Birch Lake and later the Prairie Grove Meetings one mile south of Penn. in 1841.

Having plenty of money and more zeal with a strong desire for a better house of worship, James E. Bonine and others began work of a building, the brick church in Vandalia in 1879. (The bricks were donated by Lot Bonine and came from a kiln on his farm). There were branch meetings established, one at Traverse City, and one at Log Chapel. These branch meetings with Penn and Birch Lake constitute the Vandalia Quarterly Meeting, and were loyal subjects to the Indiana yearly meeting at Richmond, Indiana, the largest body of Quakers in the world.

The Quakers are noted for their record keeping; thus much of the family history has been documented.

FOURTH GENERATION

15. David Bonine⁴ (Elias¹, James², Daniel³)

Children:

21. Rachael b. 1813 m. Wm. Druley (Druleys still

24. William m. Mary Druley
25. Isaac m. Malinda Williams
26. Mary Ann b. 1829
27. Catherine b. in Ill.

David Bonine was born in 1785 on Shelly's Island in the Susquehanna river just south of Harrisburg, Pa. He moved with his parents and family to Blount Co. Tennessee. The little boy, David, never forgot those early years on the large island farm. He remembered the long boat ride across the river to attend Meetings on "First Day" mornings in the little brick Meeting house. It was brand new and quite a long walk from the river. His family had secure feelings on their island land when rumors of Indian attacks reached them. Also, he never forgot the cemetery near his home with the French tombstones for his grandparents' graves. Sometimes he would ask his father to speak a little of the language which already seemed strange to the children of his English mother. He remembered these things all his 98 years and passed on to his grandchildren the stories he had heard as a boy on that island of his French grandfather; how he had fled as a boy with his brother and father, first to England and then to find refuge in America for freedom to worship God and freedom to own land in peace.

The long trip over the mountains to Maryville stayed in David's mind. They went with other families to help establish Quakerism there, transporting their goods in a conestoga wagon after ferrying them across the river.

In Maryville, David reached manhood. He met Prudence Williams who had been born in England and as a young lady with his parents had come to America. They were married in 1808 and five years later together with the other Bonine families moved to Wayne Co., Indiana. Later David's family moved on to Sangamon Co., Ill. where they spent much of their lives. When David was 80 years old he and his wife lived with their son, Issac's family near Muncie, Ind. They probably died there. He lived to be 98 and she to be 96. David died in 1883 and Prudence soon after. At 80 years of age David ploughed forty acres of corn four times and did all the other work while his son was sick with typhoid.

Prudence (Williams) Bonine was the daughter of William Williams from England who had come to Tennessee to do missionary work among the pioneer families. Some of their brothers and sisters had stayed in England. William died in Richmond, Ind. in 1824. Prudence was the aunt of Sir George Williams who founded the Y.M.C.A. in England.

Isaac Bonine was a small boy when his parents and some of his brothers and sisters left Shelly's Island for the West beyond the mountains. Their first settlement in the new territory was in Tennessee where they joined up with the Talbot family. Isaac's father was active in the New Hope Quaker Settlement near Marysville. Today there is a historical marker east out of Marysville along Route 11 which says of New Hope Meeting that Daniel Bonine was "overseer of the poor". Isaac married Sarah Talbot, daughter of Jacob Talbot and Susanna Sharples Talbot, both of English ancestry. The Sharples family were from Cheshire, England, and were descended from Lydia Lewis of Glamorganshire, Wales, whose ancestors can be traced back through three King Edwards and three King Henrys and on back to Charlemagne.

Being opposed to slavery Isaac's and Sarah's families moved north in 1813 into Wayne Co. Ind. to what is now Richmond. All eleven children were born there. Their prosperity grew, as the Register of Deeds books show over a thousand acres of land owned by them between 1831 and 1845. On some of the land now stands Earlham College, a Quaker institution, and it is known that the Bonine men helped to build the first building occupied by the college. Isaac also had a mill on Elk River near Richmond that produced linseed oil.

It is recorded that Isaac went security for Sarah's brother-in-law, Henry La Rue for $13,000, which wiped out a lot of their holdings. In 1842 Isaac and Sarah moved their family to Michigan where they settled in Youngs Prairie near Penn in Cass County. They found better land than they had had in Indiana and between 1836 and 1845 the records show that Isaac purchased a total of 1040 acres at a total price of $8040. We do not know if he bought and sold in Penn Twp. during this time. We think not but that as he sold his holdings in Indiana he bought in Michigan. He took great pride in blooded stock and made much money from them. He raised Berkshire hogs, Blakewell and Merino sheep.

Isaac and Sarah liked their new homeland and lived into their early eighties. They died in 1872 three months apart and are buried in Prairie Grove Cemetary near Penn, Michigan.

Thomas Bonine, the youngest of the Daniel Bonine children, was born near Maryville, Tennessee and in 1814 went with his parents and family to Wayne Co., Indiana. Thomas married Martha Talbot in 1826, the daughter of John Talbot, oldest brother of Rachel and Sarah Talbot who also married Bonines. He owned 90 acres of land in Wayne Co., Ind. which he sold in 1832 when he and his brother David and their families left Indiana for Illinois and Iowa. His burial place is in Fairview, north of Winterset in Madison County, Iowa. Many descendents of Thomas and Martha live in and near Des Moines.

John Bonine was born in Richmond, Indiana, in 1816. Born of Quaker parents, he joined the Methodist Church and was made an Exhorter at the age of 22. He was later ordained a minister and followed his calling for 25 consecutive years. After leaving Richmond he resided in Sangamon Co., Ill. and there met Nancy Montgomery of Posey, Ill., who was visiting the family of an uncle, John Barr. They were married later and took up their home in Iowa. John Bonine is thought to have preached for the United Brethren Church at one time in Knoxville. His traveling in inclement weather was the cause of a severe case of catarrh which destroyed his hearing and caused him to give up preaching. They moved from Iowa to Gibson Co., Ind., and later to Franklin Co., Kansas. There he bought a farm and retired from the ministry. This farm is close to Richmond and had a large white house with a blue grass yard and a big barn.

Nancy Montgomery was born in 1822 in Smith Twp., Posey Co., Ind. When her aunt, Comfort Marvel Barr, became ill, her mother sent the young girl out to Illinois to care for her. A cousin, Nancy Barr, was just three years younger and the two girls enjoyed each other. While there she met and married John Bonine who later became a circuit rider. Both John and Nancy died near Richmond where John had left $200 to erect a tombstone and railings around the plot. He said he didn't want anyone walking over his grave. At death he was 87 in 1905, and she 75 in 1897.

Susanna Bonine was born in Richmond, Ind. and was married at White-water Meeting to Isaac P. James who was born in Campbell Co., Virginia. Isaac was the son of Isaac James and Sarah Parker of Columbiana Co., Ohio. They moved to Youngs Prairie in Cass Co. in 1846.

29. James E. Bonine⁵ (Elias¹, James², Daniel³, Isaac⁴)
b. 1816 m. Sarah Ann Bogue d. ---- at Niles

Children:

80.	Isaac A.	b. 1849	m. Alice Wilkinson
81.	Elva E.	b. 1851	m. N. B. Hannum, divorced

James E. Bonine was born in Wayne Co., Ind. In 1844 at Cassopolis he married Sarah Ann Bogue who was born in Preble Co., Ohio in 1825, daughter of Stephen Bogue and Eliza. James came to Michigan one year subsequent to his father's coming and purchased eighty acres of land. Later he owned a total of 1,600 acres containing five houses and eight barns. Everything around him betokened the man of thrift and cultivated taste, from the elegant brick house, with fine fountain and attractive surroundings to the farthest field.

On his farm a beautiful grove, twelve acres of which were an elk and deer park, established some twenty years after procuring one pair of elk from Iowa, and one pair of deer, also from the West. After that time he sold $1000 worth of elk, seven of which were sold to King Emanuel of Italy, who sent a war vessel for them and numerous other animals of this country. He had purchased these for his park of fifteen hundred acres, where they doubtless multiplied where their descendents are today. The Bonine park was surrounded partially with a high picket fence and the balance with a rail fence. It was most beautifully sodded and was supplied with water from a spring. It was always an attractive sight along the highway west of Vandalia where these denizens of the wild roamed around at pleasure with their young capering at their side. Nearly opposite the residence and across the road from the elk park was a chestnut orchard of 100 trees, set out regularly, which began bearing fine large nuts after nine years. The nuts were larger than the seed which had been procured earlier from East Tennessee. Thirty acres of fruit trees much more than supplied the necessities to the household.

Around the residence were planted a row of native pines which grew to measure more than thirty-two feet across the tops. They not only tell their age but also do service as a yearly barometer, plainly indicating the wet and dry seasons for each year by setting forth a row of limbs encircling the trunk. If the season is wet the growth may exceed two feet to the next year's outshoots, but if dry, or very dry, the growth is proportionately small. Very fine stock of all kinds could be found grazing over the farm, while among the bovines, grazing as quietly as if upon the wild prairies of the West, could be found several buffalo, which added a certain picturesqueness to the scene.

Exactly opposite the residence, which was on the corner, was a finely built storehouse, from which radiated two rows of arbor vitae. It was doubted that Michigan had another farm that could compare with this one.

Mr. Bonine was on the building committee with four other local men who built the new Quaker meeting house in Vandalia. It was 34 feet by 57 feet and had a 20 foot ceiling all topped by a belfry. It was built of red brick at a cost of construction of $5,250 and was dedicated December 28, 1879. The bricks were supposed to have been made on one of the near-by farms. The elders among others were James E. Bonine and Sarah Bonine. Lot Bonine was Treasurer of the Sunday School. Years after the Quakers gave up the building the Masonic Lodge bought the building and have kept it up for their meeting place. It can be seen on the south side of Highway M-60 as one enters Vandalia from the east.

Also along Highway M-60, about two miles east of Vandalia, can be seen a stone monument to remind us that on this farm was one of the stations of the underground railway, a freedom route for slaves to escape to Canada.

Evan J. Bonine was born in Richmond, Indiana, of Quaker parents. The foundation of his education was laid in the common schools of Centerville, Ind. After completing his ordinary studies he remained to study medicine with a prominent physician of that town. Later he graduated from the Ohio Medical College at Cincinnati. Soon after his marriage to Miss Beall they removed to Cassopolis, Michigan. In 1849 he and his brother-in-law, Laban Harter, made an overland trip to California, probably to look for gold. He returned in 1851 and settled in Vandalia, Mich., where he resumed his practice and also served as postmaster. From that time onward, until the breaking out of the war of rebellion, he resided in this place and in Cassopolis and carried on an extensive practice.

Evan J. was elected to represent Cass County in the Lower House of the State Legislature in 1852. The Doctor became quite prominent in politics and in his later years he held offices by election and appointments. He was originally a Whig and then a member of the Free Soil party and subsequently aided in the organization of the Republican party of which he remained an adherent. On the breaking out of the Civil War, he enlisted as a private, and was soon afterward appointed by Governor Blair as Surgeon of the Second Regiment of Michigan Infantry. He received steady promotion through the various grades to the position of Surgeon-in-Chief for the Third Division of the Ninth Army Corps, which consisted of about 30,000 men. During his service he participated in twenty-nine engagements, the principal ones being the battles of Yorktown, Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, the seven-days fight for Richmond, the second battle of Bull Run, Chantilly and Fredericksburg. In 1864 he returned to Michigan and located at Niles. He was elected to the Legislature, but preferred to accept the position of Examining Surgeon on the Provost Marshall's Staff for the Western District of Michigan, with headquarters in Kalamazoo where he remained until the close of the war.

He was subsequently elected Mayor of Niles for two terms: in 1873, was appointed Postmaster and re-appointed in 1877 and 1881. He had been Vice President of the State Medical Society and for twenty-five years a surgeon of the Michigan Central Railroad.

Lot Bonine was the sixth child in Isaac's family and he outlived most of his brothers and sisters. He gained his education in the schools of Richmond, Ind. He was fifteen when he came with his parents to Cass County in 1840. After coming to Michigan he spent winter months as a student in a little log schoolhouse, which was a typical "temple of learning" of a frontier district. It was called Dodgeville School and was on the same piece of land as the modern school of the 1970's, formerly known as Billy Holister's farm.

Throughout the remainder of the year his time and energies were given to farming. He assisted in the clearing and developing of the home farm upon which he remained until the time of his marriage in 1845. The lady of his choice was Miss Susan Donnell, a native of Ohio. During the next few years the discovery of gold in the West attracted him and in 1851 he set out via New York and the Isthmus. After a year there he returned to Cass Co. and his wife and two sons. They had stayed with Lot's parents and at the Price home during his absence. While in California he worked on the Yuba River for $10 a day for some time. Later he discovered a gold mine and worked that until the cholera broke out in camp when he left the State and returned home. He took passage on a sailing vessel and was on the water sixty-six days, thirty of those days out of sight of land. He reached home early in 1852 and remained in Cass Co. the remainder of his life. Mr. Bonine killed a great many fur bearing animals in his day. His land lay along a creek and was quite a wilderness. He got his start in life by selling furs along with his farming.

His early home was a log cabin on land he had owned since he was 18 years old. He later had a valuable farm property of 160 acres, which he had transformed from a raw state into one of rich fertility and productiveness. He added many improvements including good buildings, fences, and the latest improved machinery. In connection with tilling the soil, he was largely interested in the raising of pure breed stock, especially sheep, Merinos, which he kept on his farm for over sixty years.

Mr. Bonine voted with the Republican party to which he gave earnest and stalwart support since its organization, while previously to that time he was an old-line Whig. He held a number of local offices including that of highway commissioner and opened up a number of roads in the township. In public affairs he was always interested, and his cooperation could be counted upon as a helpful measure. He assisted in the building of the two-story brick schoolhouse in Vandalia and the cause of education found in him a warm friend. He was also a member of the Friends Church and his life was always in conformity with its teachings and faith. Mr. Bonine won success through earnest and persistent labor, and moreover he was rich in the more desirable qualities of character, the integrity and justice and consideration which work for honorable manhood, respect, and esteem in every land and clime.

Joel Carter Bonine was born Dec. 21, 1860 in Knoxville, Iowa. He married Lola Ida Henry on November 25, 1885 in Hamilton, Caldwell Co., Mo. in the Baptist Church, Dr. Kenny officiating. Two sons were born to them, Maurice Gerald, born in Richmond, Kansas, Nov. 15, 1886, and Chesleigh Arthur, born near Sorrento, Florida, March 25, 1888.

Joel Carter Bonine was named for the presiding elder in the diocese in which his father was preaching at the time of his birth. He left the farm and was clerking in a store in Hamilton, Mo. where he met Lola Henry and married her. They moved to Richmond, Kansas then to Florida, then to Georgia. While living in Georgia the tragedy of blindness occurred which was to alter all the rest of his life. He was chopping wood when a splinter entered his eye and caused pressure on his optic nerve (so the doctor explained it) causing loss of all but a fraction of vision. Apparently there remained a sort of peep hole through which he could see clearly what ever crossed it. Each time he saw his granddaughter he would say eagerly "My eyes are better! I can see almost your whole face", taking her face in his hands and moving it around so as to put the parts of it together in his mind. Mostly, he was completely un-selfconscious about his affliction, to the extent that no one who talked with him felt him to be in the least different or to be pitied. He conquered his disability so completely that it ceased to exist in the minds of others, and even in his own at times. Probably for that reason most people failed to appreciate adequately how remarkably he overcame his handicap and lived normally, even successfully, with one strike against him.

He had been studying to be a pharmacist when blinded. This of course became impossible, so he became a wholesale drug salesman for the DeWitt Drug Co. He traveled for them in Pennsylvania, Ohio, and all over the South. His work took him into many backwoods areas where he had to stay with some local citizens (as there were often no hotels) but he never complained how difficult it was for a blind man to get around. He had plenty to say about how awful the cooking was, however, and how tired he got of pone and chickory. He had many a "ghost story" to tell which he gathered on these trips.

He broke off with DeWitt and started his own company, called the Rydale Remedy Co. which made drugs and patent medicines first in Hickory, N.C. and then in Newport News. One laxative they sold he named "Chesleigh's Little Early Risers" after his son. This company was ruined in the panic of 1907, and he went back to DeWitt. He was made supervisor of their sales force in the East until his last illness.

Joel Carter Bonine was six feet tall. He had brown hair and hazel eyes and had grown bald as his son Chesleigh remembers him. He wore a pointed beard and a mustache moderately trimmed and made a striking figure in his panama hat and black alpaca coat. He was a great talker keenly interested in the latest scientific news, and kept up on all developments by hiring hotel clerks to read to him. The invention of the radio was a great delight to him. Before that he loved the phonograph and always bought new records of operas and classical music. Music was a passion he had and he took it upon himself to educate his son's ear to music. He also bought the classic children's books and promoted the love of reading. He wrote a book himself called "Modern Money", which was published, unfortunately, just as the U.S. went off the gold standard.

Joel Carter was always cheerful and had a joke to tell, usually the same one about the Northerner who had been told that negroes spoke a foreign language. When the man heard the following dialogue, he was convinced; "Wha he?, Wha who?", "Obediah", "Oh, Obediah ober dere totin taters".

Mr. Bonine carried a gold watch with the pictures of his wife and two sons inside the case. He could tell time without looking at it just by putting his fingers on the outside of the case. He said he could see the face in his mind and read the time with his eyes shut. He had some theory about the electrons from the clock striking his fingers. At any rate he could tell time to the half-minute this way and never make a mistake.

About ten years before his death he went through the formality of divorce to clear the title to some property. He had not seen his wife for thirteen years since she deserted her family. In 1933 he was taken ill with leukemia. He partly recovered, enough to get around a little, but then failed rapidly and died in April, 1935, in Chevy Chase, Maryland. During the latter years of his life he made his home with his son Maurice in Washington, D.C. between business trips.

Fred N. Bonine attended high school in Niles, Michigan where he was a classmate of the original automakers "Dodge Boys", John and Horace. After graduation, he completed his early education in Freiburg, Germany. In 1886, while a student at the University of Michigan, the 23 year old athlete raced 110 yards in 104/5 seconds setting the world record. It was broken in 1921 by Charley Paddock. After graduating from the University of Michigan in medicine he then returned to Europe where he took post-graduate work at London and Paris devoting his entire time to the study of the eye, ear and throat. In order to better himself for his work he made an extended trip, visiting Berlin, Vienna, Egypt, the Sudan, Palestine and Southern Asia.

Dr. Bonine began his practice in Niles, Michigan in the second floor office of his father, Dr. Evan J. Bonine, and continued in this same location for fifty years until June 1, 1936. This office occupied by father and son at 126 East Main Street, Niles, Michigan for over one hundred years was razed in 1966 for an Urban Renewal project.

Dr. Bonine's most celebrated work was in the cure of cataracts by the use of a solution which was supposed to dissolve them and make surgery unnecessary in a large percentage of the cases. He treated 50,000 patients a year and set a record of 517 in one day. There was a "Dr. Bonine Special" motorbus arriving three times a week from Chicago, and others from Indianapolis and Columbus. He is reported to have restored sight to people who had been blind as long as thirty years.

Although he was famous as an eye specialist, he would rather be tucked away in the corner of a ringside than anywhere he knew of, wrote Rex Beach in a 1935 Cosmopolitan. He served as senior member of the Michigan State Boxing Commission. He was a personal friend of Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis and attended every heavyweight fight since the days of Sullivan.

Dr. Bonine served four terms as Mayor of Niles. In 1937 some two hundred persons gathered at the Four Flags Hotel to honor him for his service. Michigan Supreme Court Justice, Louis H. Fead, said of him, "I often think it would be a good thing if we could capture from him some of the hardships and labor which have made him an outstanding citizen of the State". Dr. Bonine died in 1941 at the age of 78. Mrs. Bonine lived to the age of 91 and died in 1956.

James Moline (Lina) Bonine was born in Penn Township, Cass Co., Michigan, married in Vandalia to Mary Ann Ray in 1879 from Bellefontaine, Hardin Co., Ohio, daughter of Isaiah Ray and Sarah Paxson. Mary Died 8 months after James in 1941 and both are buried in Prairie Grove Cemetary, Penn, Michigan. James was a farmer in Penn Township, except for two years spent in South Dakota, and a life long resident of Penn Township. The last fifty-three years he spent in the home in Vandalia where he died. He had a large barn and barnyard in town from which he daily drove cows to pasture south of town and went from there also to till the soil on land that was adjacent to his brother's farm. Both pieces had belonged to their father, Lot.

James was active in politics, was a lifelong Republican, and had served his people as supervisor, clerk, treasurer and Township Committeeman of Penn Township. He was also a business man in Vandalia, handling coal and feeds and served as postmaster in the early 1900's. In his later years he walked a trap line along the creek that ran through the town catching muskrats and mink just as his father, Lot, had done. He was a member of the Maccabee Lodge until its disbandment. On January 11, 1940 James and Mary celebrated their sixty-first anniversary at the home of their daughter, Grace.

Chesleigh A. Bonine was born March 25, 1888 at Wayland, Florida, five miles east of Sorrento. The blizzard of '88 and the yellow fever epidemic drove the family to Georgia. He was nine months old when his father was partly blinded and changed jobs to one which did not require eyesight, traveling for a wholesale drug company. The family lived in Waycross, Georgia, Hickory, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D.C. In Altoona, Pa., the family was nearly wiped out by a loose gas light. Fortunately the innkeeper had stuffed the boys with ice cream so that they became sick. Their retchings roused the half-conscious mother who made her way to the night bell before collapsing in the hall. The innkeeper heard her and saved them.

When the children were 6 and 8 years old, their mother decided to study optometry. She sent them to her sister, Corah, in Willow Springs, Mo. They had a fine time that year when they were supposed to start school, for the teacher discriminated against them in some way and their Aunt Corah took them out of school "to recover from a catarrhal condition". They spent this year of freedom running wild, swinging from the ties on a railroad bridge hand over hand, swimming in a mud hole which they shared with some pigs, and picking up some fundamental education from Aunt Corah and Uncle Doctor. Christmas of that year they took the train for a ride to Alabama to be with their parents. Their father met them half-way and while sleeping in a pullman car there was a train wreck. The boys never forgot the sight of Christmas toys all over the track from the wreck.

The next year the family moved to Washington, D.C. to put the boys in a good school. Chesleigh entered 3rd grade in 1897, high school in 1904 (Central High) and graduated in 1st place (98% average). This school had 1000 pupils. He was Captain of Company 1, one of three cadet troops at the high school. His company made second place in competitive drill among all the schools in Washington, and presented him with a gold watch.

His eyes were giving him trouble and the doctor suggested outdoor work, mining, as a career. He entered Lehigh University in 1908. His mother moved to Bethlehem and kept house for him. He majored in geology and joined Phi Delta Theta fraternity. In the summer he worked on the Delaware Chesapeake Canal for the U.S. Engineers, and met his wife, Beulah Whiteman, who was vacationing near the canal at Lorwood Grove.

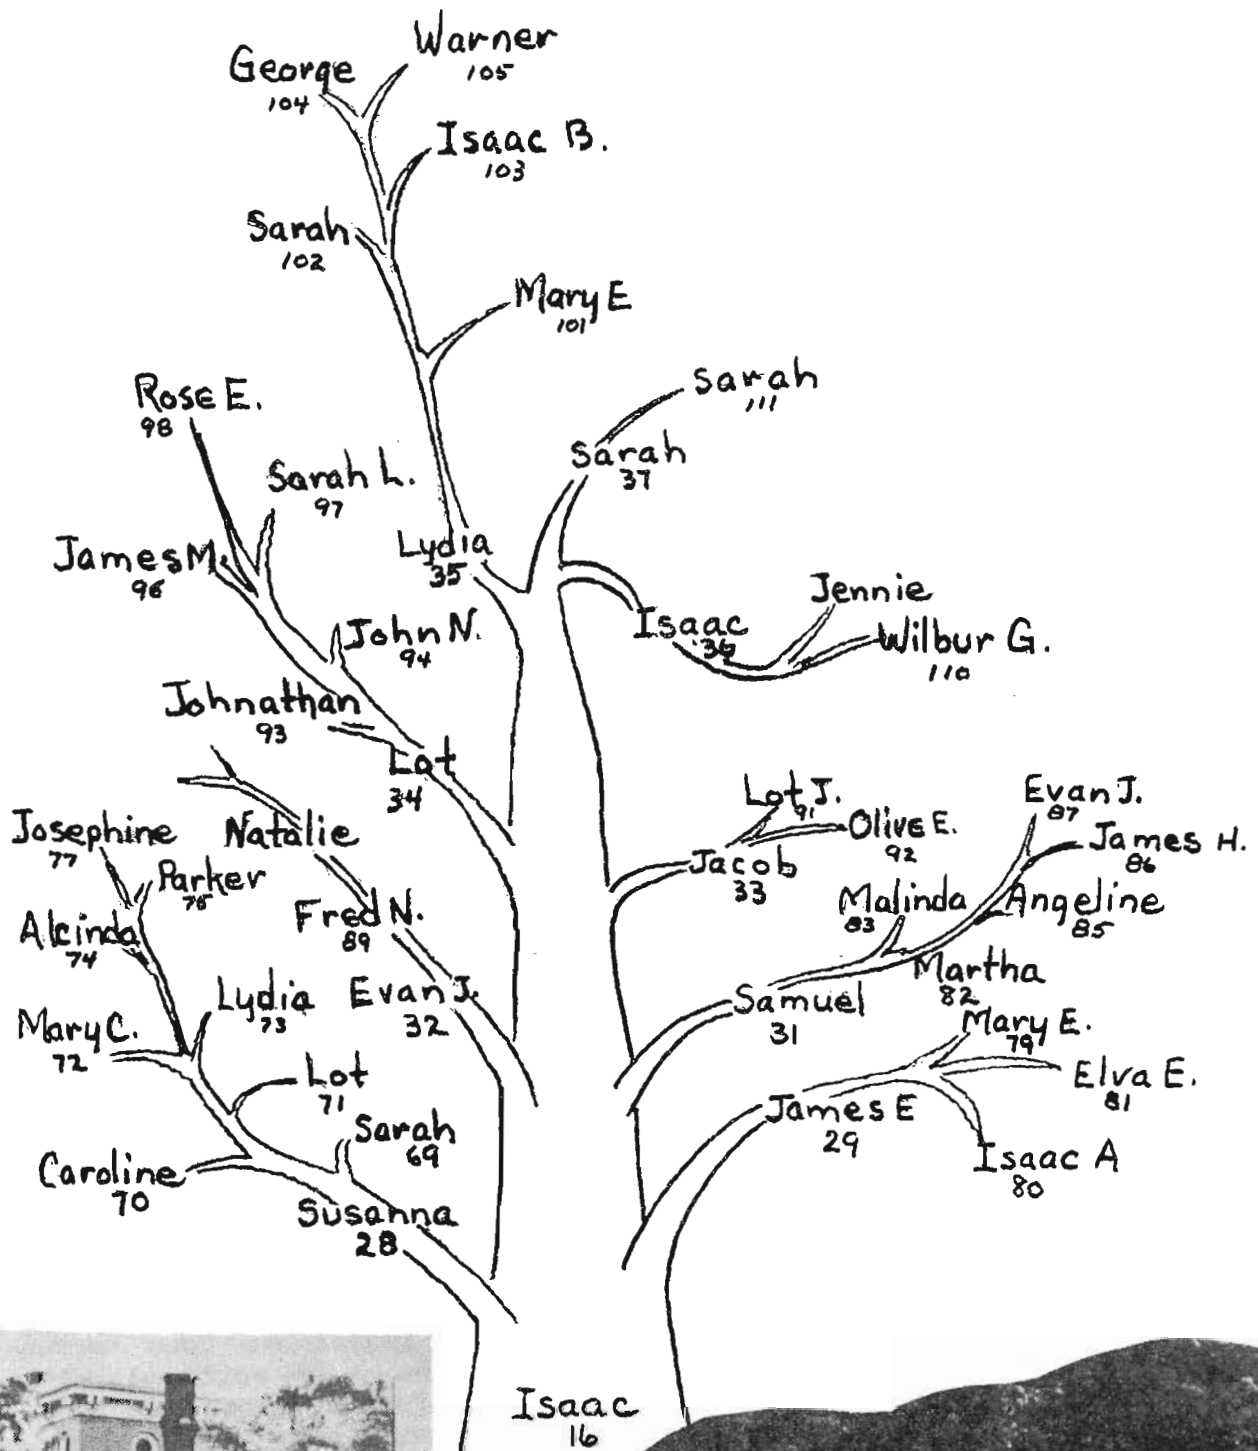

After graduating from Lehigh, he worked on the Geological Survey in Washington in the winter, and in New Mexico, North Dakota, Montana, and Idaho, Kentucky and Oklahoma during the summers. He married Beulah Whiteman on November 22, 1913 in Delaware City, Del. They lived in Washington D.C. for two years where they lost their first child, Ann, a premature infant. Then after a year and a half of graduate work and a Ph. Degree at Johns Hopkins University, he left because of the First World War draft, year of 1917-18. He taught Geology at Lehigh U., then they moved to State College, Pa. in June 1918. Their only living child, Ann Whiteman, was born here October 5, 1918.

He became head of the Department of Geology at Penn. State College at State College, Penn. Under his leadership this department grew in staff and students, and members of the department began the work which has now led to separate divisions of Petroleum and Natural Gas, Geography, and Mineral Economics. He established the summer fields work in geology and for many years spent the summer in tent camps with his students near Bedford. Later he established a Mineral Industries Camp near State College.

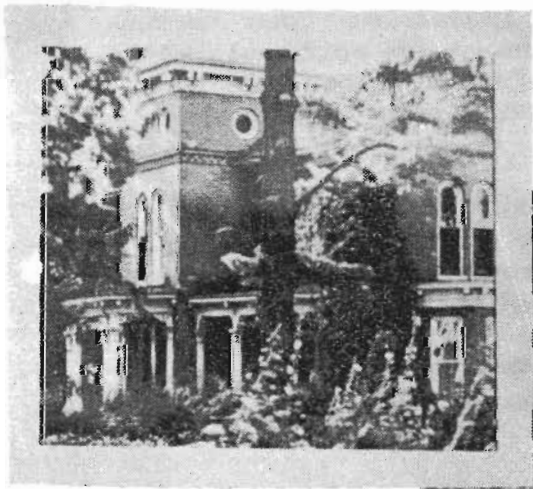

After 29 years of distinguished service at the College, he retired in October of 1947. He lived in his home in Shingletown Gap doing Geology consulting work.

Personal description: Dark brown hair, partly bald, hazel eyes with glasses, medium build, height 5'8". He is a very quiet man, very loving. He was never known to lose his temper. Hundreds of his former students idolized him and kept in touch after graduation. They learned more than geology from him. He has great capacity for spiritual leadership with young people, taught Sunday School for many years. He loved gardening, yet he loved to travel. Most vacations were spent going somewhere, particularly to the ocean, Florida, Europe, Canada, Calif, etc.

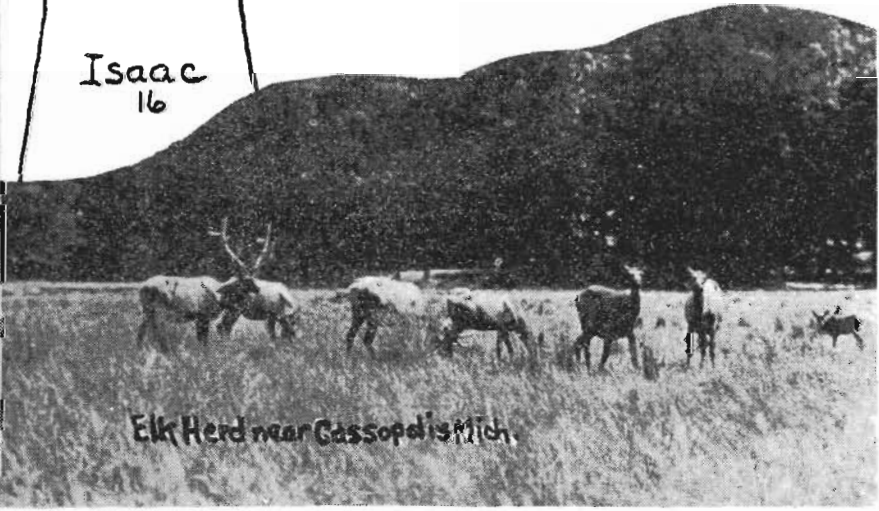

I had the pleasure and privilege of visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bonine in their home in Rehoboth Beach, on the ocean, in Delaware in 1965 and found them to be a very warm and friendly couple. Clippings received afterwards told of Mr. Bonine's geological work with other geologists in the discovery of the site of the original Dutch colony of Lewes-Rehoboth Canal. After the death of Mrs. Bonine, Chesleigh took an apartment near his brother, Maurice, in Bethesda, Maryland.

Ann Bonine Snow, as we know her from several Christmas letters received, must have been a warm, friendly, loving and capable person. We believe capable would barely characterize her in her role as daughter, wife, mother, painter, writer, civic and religious leader. Her contribution to this booklet was most inspiring and helpful. We regret not having met Ann and Walt. Their last known residence was Easton, Pa. where Ann died in 1972 after fighting cancer for many years and where Walt was employed in Ingersoll-Rand Co. nearby in Phillipsburg, N.J. Walter Jr. was working on his Ph D. in Computer Science at State College, Pa. in 1972. Chet was at Columbia working on a Ph. D. in French History.

Kenneth L. Bonine, the son of Ray Bonine and Nellie Youngs Bonine, attended country schools in Cass County, and was graduated from Three Rivers High School. He earned a B.S. degree from Western Michigan Teachers College, Kalamazoo, and an M.A. degree from the University of Michigan. He was married to Neva G. Waltz, who had been a senior high English teacher prior to the marriage. He taught 15 years, for the most part math and science, junior and senior high. He was Supervisor of Audio-Visual Services of Kalamazoo Public Schools for 23 years, from 1949 until his retirement in 1972.

Kenneth Bonine distinguished himself in several areas. He set up the Audio-Visual Department of the Kalamazoo Public Schools and made it one of the best in the state. He served on the Board of the Michigan Audio-Visual Association for five years, and as President for one term. As an avocation, he designed and built several homes, including the large family home at 101 Montrose, Kalamazoo. His hobbies include woodworking, travel, and gardening.

His family have said of him, "He is a Bonine", meaning that he has the combination of mild manner and strong character, of quiet modesty and positive achievement, characteristic of the Bonines.

INDEX

Numbers indicate the individual's assigned number and not the page number. A person with a number will first appear as a child in one generation and in most cases as an adult in the next generation. If they didn't have children they may only appear once. Ladies are listed under their maiden name only.

The following Bonines have been located but information regarding their family histories is too inadequate to relate them to this Bonine geneology.

Chattanooga, Tennessee -- Benjamine H., Charles, Charles Jr., David C., Charles R., Howard, Joe E., M.W., R.L., Ronald E., Terry W., and William J.

Knoxville, Tennessee -- Roy Bonine, brother of Wm. J. above.

Macon, Georgia -- Phillip K. son of J. Fred Bonine, grandson of Joseph and great grandson of Jacob Bonine is corresponding with this researcher. As of now there is no direct link even though the above families seem to have originated from Eastern Tennessee near to the Blount County that the families documented in this book at one time were known to have been counted as settlers.

Nashville, Tennessee -- William Bonine and Fred Bonine

Grand Rapids, Michigan -- Frederick Bonine, daughter Carol and son Dr. Richard Pray Bonine

Pittsburg, Penn. -- brothers Claire and Ralph Bonine

Kansas City, Kan. -- Harry, brother of Claire and Ralph, and father of Fred of Nashville and Kenneth of Earlville, Ill.

Hinsdale, Illinois -- William Thomas II and son Wm. Thomas III and Michael Bonine who co-authored a book on maps.

Minneapolis, Minnesota -- Richard, Wesley, Susan, Ann, Bryan, D.L., Darwin A., Donald, Glen, R.A., and M. Bonine. (All separate listings)

St. Paul, Minnesota -- Bruce W., J.E., Jerold, Jerry, Kevin, Mary, Michael, Robert W., Willard, G.L., Bruce, Anthony and John E.

St. Louis, Missouri -- Carl, Carl Eugene, Jack, James E., John, Phillip H. W. Paul, Wm.J.Jr. Bonine.

Omaha, Nebraska -- M. Bonine and Kenneth L. Bonine

(Comment-- Still believed to be not a common name)

ROYAL ANCESTRY

The royal ancestry of Sarah Talbot, wife of Isaac Bonine, and of Martha Talbot, wife of Thomas Bonine, has been mentioned heretofore. The complete ancestry follows:

ROYAL ANCESTRY OF RALPH LEWIS through his mother Ann Prichard

Thomas Pritchard, Ann, and Jane Prichard were the children of Richard Evan of Collena, Wales, and his wife, Catherine. A letter from William Lewis in Wales to Ralph Lewis in Pennsylvania speaks of Thomas Pritchard as an uncle. He did not emigrate to America, but his two daughters, cousins of John Bevan, had holdings in Marion in the Welch Tract. John Bevan, an important and large landed proprietor at Merion, transferred acreages to his two cousins and to his cousin Ralph Lewis. Jane Prichard, daughter of Richard Evan of Collena and his wife, Catherine, married Evan ap John of Treferig, who were parents of John Bevan, the Emigrant, to Pennsylvania.

Through Catherine, who was the daughter of Thomas Basset of Miscin, who married Richard ap Evan of Collena, and who was grandmother of Ralph Lewis, the royal ancestry is traced to Edward III, King of England. From Edward the Third to William the Conqueror and Charlemagne, the ancestry goes back to English, French, and Scottish kings as shown in the "Royal Ancestry of Thomas Dungan."

ROYAL ANCESTRY OF THOMAS DUNGAN, the IMMIGRANT

Alfred R. Justice in "The Ancestry of Jeremy Clarke of Rhode Island and Dungan Genealogy" compiled the following lineage from data obtained from Burke's Royal Families" and from Foster's "Our Noble and Gentle Families of Royal Descents" and other sources. This was abstracted by Bessie P. Douglas in Williams and McKeehan Genealogy.

This royal lineage traces to the Emperor Charlemagne, William the Conqueror, Alfred the Great, and Edward First, King of England.

- First generation, Charlemagne, b. April 2nd., 742; d. Jan 1st., 814;
m. 786, Hildegarde of Swabia.
- Second generation, their son, Louis le Debonnaire, King of France, Germany and Italy, d. 840; m. Judith, d. 843, daughter of Guelph, Count of Altorf in Swabia.
- Third generation, their son, Charles the Bold, Emperor of France, b. 823; d. Oct. 6th 878; m. 2nd, Richildis, daughter of Bovinus, Count of Aldimir-Walde, France.
- Fourth generation, his daughter, Judith, widow of Etelwolp, King of England; m. 862, Baldwin I, Count of Flanders, called "Bras de fer," d. 880.
- Fifth generation, their son, Baldwin II, Count of Flanders, called "The Bald", d. 918; m. Alfritha, daughter of Alfred the Great, King of England.
- Sixth generation, their son, Arnolph I, Count of Flanders, called the "Great", d. 965; m. Alice, daughter of Herbert II, Count of Vermandois.
- Seventh generation, their son, Baldwin III, Count of Flanders and Artois, d. 962; m. Maud, daughter of Herman Billung, Duke of Saxony.
- Eighth generation, their son, Arnolph II, Count of Flanders, d. 988; m. Susanna, daughter of Berenger II, King of Italy.

- Ninth generation, their son, Baldwin IV, Count of Flanders and Artois, called "Fair Beard", d. 1034; m. Ogive, daughter of Frederick I, Count of Bavaria and Luxembourg.
- Tenth generation, their son, Baldwin V, Count of Flanders, called the "Pious", d. 1067; m. 1027, Adele, daughter of Robert, King of France and widow of Richard III, Duke of Normandy.
- Eleventh generation, their daughter, Maud (of Matilda), m. 1053, William the Conqueror, Duke of Normandy and King of England, b. 1024; d. 1087.
- Twelfth generation, their son, Henry I, King of England, b. 1070 at Selby, Yorkshire; d. 1135; m. 1102, Matilda, (or Edytha), known as the "Good Queen Mold", daughter of Malcolm Canmore III, King of Scotland, by Queen Margaret, sister of and heiress of Edgar Atheling.
- Thirteenth generation, their daughter, Maud (or Matilda), b. 1104; d. Sept. 10th, 1167, widow of Henry IV, Emperor of Germany; m. 1127, Geoffrey Plantagenet; b. 1111; d. 1150, son of Foulke V, Count of Anjou and Ermengard.
